"ACADEMIC FREEDOM"

Make no mistake about it—the real issue in the fight over Pennsylvania's proposed loyalty oath is whether the pinks or the public are going to dominate higher education.

A good many smoke screens are being set up. Schoolmen and educators of much standing have been mousetrapped into the position of running interference for those who want to teach our children subversive and revolutionary doctrines.

But the crux of the matter is that a considerable body of public school and college teachers are unwilling to promise not to teach the younger generation that the governments of this state and nation ought to be overthrown by violence.

It's as simple as that. The spokesmen for this group say any such promise would interfere with freedom of thought and freedom of speech. Of course it would—for those who want to preach Communism; not for those who believe in and support our form of government.

Most of the othér issues are trash. For example, one bitter-end opponent of the proposed law said that the requirement of taking an oath would cast suspicion on teachers, and intimated that the oath somehow was an indignity. What nonsense—when every president, every governor, every legislator, and virtually all other public officials have been taking oaths for years; when every pupil recites the Pledge to the Flag almost daily; when every one of the millions of men and women who served in the military branches took their oaths upon being mustered in.

What do the teachers want to do, that this proposed oath would interfere with? What is the fight about?

That's simple to answer. The real issue isn't the matter of freedom of thought—how is anyone, whether the Attorney General or the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, or the appellate courts, going to tell what is really in the mind of an individual? Nor is the matter of instruction the actual consideration—nothing is more difficult to establish in a courtroom than exactly what it was a teacher or professor said in a classroom.

The real issue is the matter of the educators affiliating themselves with red-front organizations, drives, and pressure groups.

That's where the rub comes. The instructors demand the "right" to join whatever they wish, whether or not it is working for the overthrow by violence of the government. The authors of the law, on the other hand, believe that any person who, first, draws an income from the people's free government, and second, who comes into a position of great influence over the unformed minds of the youth of America, ought not to join subversive organizations and ought to be prevented from doing so if they have not the good taste and patriotism to decline to do so of their own volition.

In this field, the teaching profession has written its own reputation—and if that reputation, before the American people, is full of pink spots, then the teaching pro-

The St. Francis Players of St. Francis Vocational School, Eddington, will present the famous play "Arsenic and Old Lace," tomorrow at two p. m., in the school hall. The production is under the direction of Brother Gordian of the school faculty.

Lippolis as Dr. Einstein, his accomplice. Also included are W. Hogan alias "Teddy" Roosevelt, a candidate for a straitjacket and Mr. Witherspoon (C. Even) who tries to see that he gets there. The law is represented by officers Brophy, Klein and O'Hara, who are J. Brown, D. O'Neill and J. Weber, respectively. Their chief is Lieutenant Rooney (W. Hagan).

Working behind the scenes are J. Force, A. Costantini, A. Brown, E. Markee and J. Nylec trying to see that the right thing happens at the right time. Their test will come at curtain time, Sunday, May 6, at two o'clock.

QUAKERTOWN SCHOOL TAX RATE UNCHANGED

Millage Rate is 39; Un-Unchanged For The Past Five Years

INSTRUCTION IS HIGH

QUAKERTOWN, May 5 — The school tax rate for Quakertown borough is to remain the same for 1951-52 as it was for 1950-51. This announcement is made by the school board.

Real estate tax will remain at 39 mills, and the head tax at $5.00. Local taxes have remained at these levels for the past five years. School directors voted against increasing tax levies although increased costs have forced other nearby districts to boost rates.

The school budget for the coming year, approved and adopted, by the directors calls for estimated expenditures totaling $343,955.00 during 1951-52. Receipts are estimated at $344,200.00.

Biggest chunk of the current budget will go for expenses of instruction, including teachers and supervisors salaries, textbooks, and supplies. This amount totals $184,884.00 and is $14,847.00 more than similarly last year. Salaries alone account for $6,500.00 of the difference, while

ARRANGE BREAKFAST

CROYDON, May 5 — A spring wedding took place at the hour of ten this morning, when Mr. Walter Lavenberg took as his bride, Miss Lorraine Fallon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fallon, Tulip street. The double ring ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass before the flower bedecked altar of St. Thomas Aquinas R. C. Church here. Mrs. Russell Dunn, as organist, accompanied Mrs. John Arena, Bristol, cousin of the bride, when she rendered the hymns, "Prayer Perfect," "Mother of Christ," "Ave Maria" and "O Lord I Am Not Worthy."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was radiant in a gown of white ninon sheer and satin. The bodice was of satin, with an off-shoulder effect of ninon outlined with a wide ruffle of Chantilly lace and buttoned in the back. Tapered sleeves had three tiny buttons at each wrist. The full skirt of ninon over satin, entrain, was worn with a hoop. A double ruffle of Chantilly lace, set several inches apart, started at the center back and formed a double apron effect in the front. Her scalloped veil of illusion fell from a seed pearl tiara. White satin slippers completed her

CORRECTION

The Courier has been informed that it was in error in a report published Wednesday of the Bristol School Board meeting held Tuesday evening. The inference was given in the report that the board would spend $8066 for its athletic program in 1951-52. The Courier has been informed that the actual facts are that the coaches of the high school have prepared a tentative budget of $8066 for the consideration of the athletic committee and the school board. This budget is to be given consideration by the athletic committee and the school board and against whatever figure is adopted will be credited receipts from the various athletic activities.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

General MacArthur declared that world communism, and not the Soviet Union, was this country's chief enemy. He would not concede that if the United States went to war with Communist China over Korea such a development would effect dangerously the present primary goal of creating strength to resist possible Russian aggression. He dismissed as "tommyrot" President Truman's statement that the Central Intelligence Agency had been barred from operating effectively until after the Chinese intervention in Korea and contended that the Joint Chiefs of Staff agreed with him that it was vital for this country's security to keep Formosa out of Communist hands. He charged that General Marshall disagreed with his Formosa policy and had overruled it.

A Republican attempt to make the MacArthur hearings public was defeated in the Senate, 41 to 37. Chairman Russell of the inquiry said he was confident that the published testimony did not endanger the country's secret military codes.

United States and British negotiators ended a ten-day discussion of major differences on a Japanese peace treaty between the two countries after achieving what was termed "real and definite progress."

Because of British objections the Committee of Foreign Ministers of the Council of Europe gave up for the time being its hopes for European political unity. The Council adopted a report that would limit the work of the Consultative Assembly for this session to an intergovernmental program.

In Dublin Premier Costello's coalition government will give up Monday the rule it has exercised for more than three years and will go to the public for a new vote of power.

There was renewed fighting on the Israeli-Syria border. Representatives of the two countries agreed to a cease-fire earlier in the day but the armistice lasted only three hours and forty-five minutes.

To further conserve steel for defense needs housing construction was put under stricter licensing rules by the National Production Authority. No apartment house more than three stories above a basement, nor a private home costing more than $35,000, may be built without the permission of the authority. The authority also ordered another 5 per cent cut in the use of steel for automobiles.

RETURN VERDICT IN FAVOR OF K. HERRMANN

Had Entered Suit for $1,320; Defendant, R. L. Kelly

APRIL, 1950, CRASH

Is 2nd Time Case is Tried; "Hung Jury" on First Occasion

DOYLESTOWN, May 5 — A verdict of $1320 was returned after one-hour deliberation by a civil court jury Thursday in favor of the plaintiff, Kenneth E. Herrmann, Radcliffe street, Bristol, who was suing for that amount.

The defendant was Raymond L. Kelly, Eddington, and the trial grew out of a car-oil truck collision April 14, 1950, near a lumber yard in Eddington. State Policemen William Arner and Edward Miles, of the Langhorne sub-station, investigated and served as witnesses.

The trial, which began Tuesday afternoon, was the second time the case was tried. A "hung jury" which couldn't agree, was dismissed by Judge Biester, March 14, in civil court here.

"Although the defendant's testimony was different and somewhat changed this time from the story he gave during the first trial, there were just enough changes so that we could make a decision," said a member of the jury, yesterday after

LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD AGENTS, ALONG WITH STATE POLICE, CHECK LICENSED PLACES FOR GAMBLING DEVICES, IN FOLLOW-UP OF EDICT BY BUCKS CO. DISTRICT ATTORNEY

State Police Wait Outside While Enforcement Agents Go In and Make Search — Some Violations Reported in Lower Bucks County — Other Areas Are Given A Clean Bill by Agents.

State Liquor Control Board agents, accompanied by State Police, hit all sections of Bucks county yesterday afternoon in search of violations of the edict of Bucks County District Attorney Willard S. Curtin, banning gambling devices. The agents visited only the licensed places, and it has been unofficially reported that some violations were found in lower Bucks county. The violations were not announced early this morning. The middle and upper sections of Bucks county were given a clean bill of health.

Elaborate plans had been made for the visitations. The Control Board agents went inside the clubs, while State Police waited outside with instructions to enter only when called by the enforcement agents. It was about three o'clock yesterday afternoon when the officers went into action.

The State Police details were drawn from the State Police barracks in Doylestown, Langhorne and Quakertown. Trucks had been ordered to stand by to haul away any machines which might be found. The searchers were looking for slot machines, punchboards, fish bowls and other gambling devices.

It was just a week ago Thursday that Bucks County District Attorney Curtin called the representatives of clubs, fire companies and fraternal organizations together from all sections of Bucks County and told them in plain language that slot machines had to go and go at once. One week was the time given all to get the machines out and out of the county.

The time limit expired yesterday and yesterday State Liquor Control Board Agents came here and checked some of the clubs holding liquor licenses and where slot machines have been operated in the past. They found in one club two old unused machines, it is claimed, which

THE WAR

By Howard Handleman

Far Eastern Director, INS

TOKYO, May 5 — (INS) — United Nations forces pushed their main lines ahead in South Korea today for the first time in two weeks amid increasing evidence the Chinese are running out of steam needed to mount the second stage of their spring offensive.

For the first time in months the Chinese reverted to psychological warfare tactics used during previous pushes, when the released 15 tired American GIs captured last week during the height of the Red thrust.

The men, taken prisoner when their unit was surrounded April 28, said a Chinese General they described as "very friendly" arranged for their release after they promised they would not return to combat duties in Korea.

Under American Army procedure any former war prisoner who manages to make his way back to UN lines is transferred automatically from the war zone.

The advance of the Allied main line came in a thrust up both banks of the Pukhan river toward the town of Kapyong, 12 miles south of Parallel 38, in a no man's land created by withdrawal of the Chinese.

Censored field dispatches failed to specify the distance from Kapyong or the number of miles upriver covered by the new UN advance.

But correspondents were allowed to state that newly-occupied positions along the Pukhan will permit even deeper penetrations into enemy-held territory by seasoned UN tank-infantry patrols than have been attempted during the past five days.

Heavy air and artillery strikes contiqued to pound the communists, and there were indications the Reds will to fight was being sapped by the incessant blasting.

The Air Force announced that during the fives days ended Friday aircraft of the Far East Air Forces

WANT TO LOCATE RADIO STATION HERE

Washington—The Federal Communications Commission confirmed today that the Penn Jersey Broadcasting Company, Bristol, Pa., has filed application for a new station in Bristol. The application was filed April 12 and was contingent upon a "change in facilities and location" by radio station WBUD at Morrisville, Pa. The FCC said the Penn Jersey application has not yet been acted upon, but added that permission has been granted WBUD to move to Trenton, N. J., and that this move is "now in process."

Government Orders Rigid Building Controls

Washington—Rigid government controls over construction of "luxury" buildings and a cut in auto production are expected today to channel more steel into defense efforts. In tightening curbs on construction, the National Production Authority ruled that permits will be required for apartment buildings of more than three stories, homes costing $35,000, and public or private projects which use 25 tons of steel. Affected by the new order are schools, churches, hospitals, highway bridges, water and sewer systems, pipelines, public utilities and railroads. In addition, the NPA said construction permits will be needed for all newspaper, radio and television buildings. The NPA slashed use of steel in automobile production another five per cent and the NPA warned an additional 10 percent reduction probably will be put into effect July 1. Industry sources said the order will mean fewer autos although they said the real impact of the steel cut will not be felt until after midyear.

Overhead, Air Force bombers, Navy fighters and Coast Guard planes added their roar to the din of whistles and sirens from surface craft and shoreside installations.

A PAINFUL CYCLE

Much was expected of government planners when this century began. Many of the European countries had launched government programs to improve the welfare of the people, and America felt stirrings along the same line.

The government was challenging big business combinations and voters were breaking up political plunderbunds in the large cities. Every step taken was toward additional government authority to regulate the lives of citizens.

This trend has reached a culmination in the last few years, a culmination which is bitter for the most part. State planning in Russia has degenerated into slavery and world menace. Six years ago the British began emulating the Russian economic system. Today Britain is in turmoil because of a standard of living that sinks steadily lower in the absence of free enterprise.

The United States, too strong to succumb to the many half-socialistic measures of state planning that have been adopted, is shocked by the excesses of administration that are exposed.

America is, in fact, so strong that every state-planned country in the world looks to this nation for economic aid from the pool of resources accumulated here by private enterprise. Even Russia has connived to get billions of aid.

Perhaps the world is coming to the end of its state planning binge. It has been a painful cycle, in which the promises of the planners have proved in the main to be a mockery. Surely the human family is about ready for something else, having progressed as far as it cares to in reverse toward tyrannical government.

THE GOVERNMENT PRESS

At a convention of newspaper editors in Washington, D. C., a great deal of attention was given to the far-reaching and expanding propaganda machine of the federal government. It was also charged that the government is launching a daily tax-subsidized newspaper to sing the praises of the administration in general and the bureaus in particular.

Two newspaper editors from Cleveland and Tampa told of their incomplete investigation which uncovered at least 45,000 bureaucrats now engaged in spreading favorable publicity for their bureau chiefs. There are 126 government printing plants together with 256 auxiliary plants engaged in reprinting and mimeographing at an annual cost estimated as high as $500,000,000. Much of this information was obtained by Representative Rees of Kansas whose report, coincident with the outbreak of the Korean war, didn't receive the public attention it merited.

This is merely another report of waste on the Washington front. Probably it, too, will be dubbed asinine. But it is palpably part of the program, which is costing hundreds of millions of dollars, to perpetuate the bureaucrats in office.

Her attendants, three in number, were attired in gowns of marquisette and Chantilly lace. Their sleeveless bodices were of lace with Peter Pan collars. Their hooped skirts were of marquisette over taffeta. Lace mitts were worn. Large, open-crown hats of lace featured large bows in the back. Miss Mary Fallon, sister of the bride, maid of honor, wore orchid color, and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Emma Lavenberg, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Florence Heath, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids, were attired in yellow and green respectively. Miss Lavenberg carried red roses and Miss Heath pink roses. The trio wore white slippers. They were presented with crystal rosaries by the bride. Mr. Lavenberg had his brother, Mr. Samuel Lavenberg, as best man, and Mr. John Fallon, brother of the bride, and Mr. William Hayes, Jr., as ushers. Mr. Lavenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lavenberg, Oak avenue, presented his attendants with gold tie clasps.

A wedding breakfast for the bridal party was served at the home of the bride's parents, with a reception to be at five in Hibernian Hall, Corson street, Bristol.

Leaving for two weeks honeymoon trip to New York, N. Y., the former Miss Fallon will wear a gold colored suit and with it a gold hat, navy topper and accessories. She will wear an orchid corsage. The newly-weds will reside in an apartment at 511 Pond street, Bristol. Both the bride and bridegroom are employed by Paterson Parchment Paper Co., Edgely. The bride is a graduate of St. Mark's commercial school.

the remainder is caused by increased costs of tuition.

The estimated expenditures of the 1950 budget totaled $235,236.34, excluding $101,000 carried on every budget for capital outlay. This means last year's budget and the new one are on a par, despite current increases in every category covered by the budget.

One $10,000 item, redemption of short term loans, was included in the 1950 budget, but not in the new one, accounting for the increased outlay, but the same overall cost.

Spring Wedding Ceremony Occurs in St. Mark's Church

A pretty spring wedding was solemnized this morning at an 11 o'clock nuptial mass in St. Marks R.C. Church, when Miss Mary E. Brennan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brennan, Swain street, became the bride of Mr. James E. Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Cameron, Eddington.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Paul Baird amid a setting of spring flowers. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The organist, Miss Katherine Keating, Linden street, rendered several selections, and the vocalists Mrs. John Arena, sang "Because", "The Rosary", "Through the Years" and "Mother at Your Feet Is Kneeling".

Attending the bride as maid of honor, was Miss Barbara Virgulti, who was gowned in rose beige net over taffeta. The full skirt was ballerina length. The bodice had an illusion neckline with cap sleeves; and a design of leaves formed the trim on the front. Her slippers were beige satin; and a wreath of rosebuds formed her head dress. She carried a cascade of roses.

The bride's floor length gown was of white net over taffeta, the skirt hanging full from a form-fitting lace bodice with illusion neckline and cap sleeves. She wore lace mitts which matched the bodice, white satin slippers, and her cascade bouquet was of white rosebuds, lilies-of-the-valley, with a white orchid center.

Her head dress was a wreath of valley lilies attached to her shoulder-length veil.

The bride groom's attendant was his brother, Mr. David Cameron, of Cornwells Heights.

A wedding breakfast for the immediate family was served at the Penn Manor club. A week's honeymoon will be spent at Williamsburg, Va.

Mrs. Cameron travelled in a grey gabardine suit with dark green accessories and wore an orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will reside in an apartment at 210 Jefferson avenue.

Mrs. Brennan, the bride's mother, was costumed in a beige dress with brown accessories and wore a lavender orchid.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Cameron, wore an all-navy costume and accessories, and a lavender orchid.

The bride is a graduate of Bristol High school. She is employed in the office of Minnesota Mining & Mfg. Co.

The bridegroom was in the U. S. Army for three years. He is employed by Schutte & Koerting Co., Cornwells Heights.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a pearl necklace and earrings, and the bridegroom's gift to his attendant was a cigarette lighter.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA---

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Bensalem Township

Ann Munch, first grade teacher at Cornwells, and Isabelle McCoy, fifth grade, Trevose, joined the Bucks County Teachers Forum group when they toured Lower Bucks County on Saturday. Places visited included the Biddle Mansion and Pennsbury Manor, with luncheon at the Penns Manor Club. Mrs. Munch has recently been elected a member of this professional organization.

At a recent meeting of the Trevose-Penn Valley Home and School Association, Dr. Genevieve Bowen, Assistant County Superintendent of Schools, discussed County Services to Bensalem Township Schools. She outlined the particular work of each of the County staff, and then discussed her own work in detail. Dr. Bowen mentioned her responsibilities in cultivating professional spirit, helping to unify educational objectives on a county-wide basis, developing teacher awareness of the growth needs of all age children, and assisting the community in understanding and participating in the school program.

In projecting trends in reporting pupil progress to parents, Dr. Bowen pointed out that the Newtown schools hold two parent-teacher conferences supplemented by two letters during the school year in the primary division. All Pennsbury primary teachers use the parent-teacher conference in reporting pupil growth to the home. "Children should be measured in terms of their individual growth, since no child's performance is separated from him," stated the County Superintendent.

Dr. Bowen presented the pros and cons of the teacher working with a group of pupils for longer than a one year period. At Pennsbury, for instance, there is no "grade calling" of pupils during their first three years at school. The teacher travels on with the group during this three year period developing keen insight into the problems of each pupil and working closely with the home in providing the best experiences for each child. At Solebury, the teachers work with the same group of pupils for a two year period.

Mobile helps available for school use on a loan basis from the County Office include a telebinocular for visual testing; audiometers for measuring hearing, and the opthalmograph used in testing pupils with reading difficulties.

Instructional materials provided on teacher request include: professional references, a kodachrome library of approximately 3000 slides, a library of educational motion picture films, and a Traveling Art Library valued at $30,000 made possible by contributions of school boards and complete or partial donations of the artists.

The Safety Patrol will enjoy a big league baseball game on Thursday when they see the Phillies and Pittsburgh at Shibe Park. Virginia Neely will accompany the group from Trevose; Carolyn Rhodus will chaperone the Andalusia softies and John Bixler will supervise the club from Cornwells.

The results of an inventory of pupil stated needs in the fifth grade at Trevose, indicated that the boys and girls were generally concerned with two problems: how to further the opportunity for learning and enjoying folk dancing and how to improve table etiquette.

The pupils decided to solve the dance problem by using the multi-purpose room during the noon hour to practice folk dancing taught in the classroom. This activity takes care of free time during the lunch hour particularly on rainy days.

Realizing the need to practice good table manners, the group decided to have a luncheon. A menu including soup, saltines, hot chocolate with marshmallows and jello was prepared. A committee was assigned to make the necessary purchases. Several volunteered as cooks, waiters and dishwashers.

Proper table manners were discussed. An educational film, "Let's Go to Dinner," was reviewed. An invitation was extended the elementary supervisor to join the group as luncheon guest.

The children carried through their project in a most satisfactory manner as evaluated by themselves and their teacher, Isabelle McCoy. This activity has sensitized the group to the social amenities, provided an opportunity to develop democratic skills and processes through committee work, and satisfied the pupils in terms of their felt need.

Molly Grady, Frances Murphy, Arlene Way, and Elsie Dubhorn attended the second meeting of the Philadelphia Area School Study Council at Newtown. After reviewing the characteristics of a good elementary school and evaluating the local school programs in terms of this criteria, the Council decided that five problems warranted special study; namely, the public relations program; the place of the special teacher (art, music, physical education); provision of a wholesome recreational program for pupils on half-session programs; helping the child with special problems (hearing losses, visual difficulties, the slow learner, the gifted child) in the classroom and by setting up special classes; how best to use the facilities and equipment in the school.

The final meeting of the Council for this school year will be an all day session at Doylestown scheduled for May 29.

In order that the eighteen hours of First Aid Training for Bensalem teachers might be completed, all classrooms in the Township except elementary afternoon session groups will be dismissed at two o'clock on the following days: May 8, May 15, and May 21. Classes are held in the High School from 2.30 until five o'clock under the direction of John Messinger and Annetta Reber, Bensalem High School health education instructors.

If Young Tot Wants to Learn

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

SOME children about four or five are very eager to begin school. They suppose going to school means "getting big." Some of these eager little children want to print, write, spell, read and handle numbers. They may be over-stimulated by their parents to do so. Should we try to dissuade a child from such learning?

"I have a boy 5, and I want any help I can get for him in this next year. Anything that I should do so he won't be afraid and won't mind being away from me and good at taking care of himself and his things. But he is over-anxious to go to school, and does a lot of counting and writing and always wants to know how to spell and wants me to print names and even lines for him. I plan to take him and visit a first grade teacher and have her help me as I don't think I should try to stop him from trying to learn. But I want to be sure he learns the right way. I even got him interested in other things to keep him from sitting so long at one time, writing and drawing. I want the best for our boy to start out on."

Eager to Learn

Here's about the way I answered this mother. It always does one's heart good to see a little child so eager to learn the kind of thing he will be taught later at school. Naturally we incline to encourage him in such intellectual zeal.

The child who, on entering the first grade, is familiar with some of the letters of the alphabet and some of the number symbols; who can count real things up to ten or so and can print a few letters and number symbols, may have some advantage. On the contrary, such interest and practice can do the child more harm than good. Often it diverts his attention and the attention of his parents from interests and experiences so much more useful for his all-around success at school, such as having fun with other children of his age, amusing himself in creative fun at coloring, drawing and making all sorts of things with his hands, and sharing such experiences with others; listening to stories and poems, dramatizing them in his own crude ways, spinning yarns of fantasy or engaging in play at makebelieve.

Less Acceptable

When the child, before entering the first grade, can do all sorts of book-learning exploits he wins the plaudits of adults but not of other children of his age. Rather, he is rendered less acceptable to these other children, less ready to get along happily with them.

Correspondingly when he is more dependent physically and emotionally on his parents and other adults, he is less self-reliant.

While you don't wish to ignore your little child's attraction to formal school learning, you certainly should aim to turn his attention gradually to more normal interests. Try to have him spend more time with other children of his age; more time at doing and making things with his hands; more time at listening to stories read to him. Aim to help him to feel comfortable out of your presence. Cultivate good health habits in him. Teach him to wait on himself. Train him in good self-control, good obedience and respect for the rights of others. Have him carefully checked by your physician and dentist.

INCREASED TOLLS

BERLIN — (INS) — Life in West Berlin is taking an increasingly heavy toll of families and individuals. Official statistics show the divorce and suicide rate at an all-time peak. The increase in broken marriages, and a total of nearly one-fourth of self-destructions, are attributed to economic hardships; unemployment or insufficient incomes.

BENSALEM NINE LOSES FIRST GAME OF THE SEASON

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, May 5 —Bensalem Township suffered its first Lower Bucks County League loss yesterday as it bowed to the Pennsbury High team, 7-4, in a hard-fought 11-innings game. Despite the defeat, the Owls managed to hold on to first place by one-half game.

The tilt was well-played from start to finish. Bensalem failed to get a hit off "Bill" Bray for the first four cantos but exploded in the fifth to score three times and deadlock the score. Bray permitted seven hits in the 11 frames while his hill opponent, Joe Mikelaitis was hit for 12 bingles.

A long triple to center by Briggs won the game for the visitors in the 11th. Baziow had opened the session with a single. Ed Hunter drew a walk. Scancella moved the runners along with a sacrifice. Briggs lifted a high fly in foul territory but Bader and Bowman collided giving the batter a life. He then smashed out his triple. Ray Bray scored Briggs with a single, his fourth hit of the game.

It was this same Briggs who helped the Falcons take a 2-0 lead in the first. After Mayo singled, Briggs lashed out a double to advance the runner to third. Both scored on Ray Bray's first hit.

A single by Bray and double by Hal Powell gave Pennsbury a 3-0 lead which was tied by Bensalem in the fifth on a walk to Johnny Bowman, Smith being safe on an error, a single by Jack Weaver, and an error by Baziow. The Owls still had runners on second and third when Bader fanned and reached base but Robinson died trying to score on the play.

There was no further scoring until the tenth when Pennsbury went in front on an error by Bowman and two-bagger from the bat of Campbell. However, the Owls again knotted the count in their half of the inning on Bader's double, a fielder's choice and a wild pitch.

Ray Bray led the batters with four out of six. He was robbed out of a hit in the sixth when Jim Dwyer made a sensational catch of his line drive labeled for extra bases. Weaver had three out of five for Bensalem.

ERICKSON TO ENTER EVENTS AT SPEEDWAY

LANGHORNE, May 5 — Eric Erickson, a speed merchant from Long Beach, Calif., will make his first appearance on an eastern track when he rolls his Pontiac onto Langhorne Speedway's circular mile track for the Grand National Circuit championship late model stock car race Sunday afternoon, May 20.

Erickson had his first fling with NASCAR's hot shot drivers in the 100-mile championship at Gardena Speedway, located 15 miles south of Los Angeles, last March, and he succeeded in getting home in fourth position, trailing such well known stars as Marshall Teague of Daytona Beach, Fla., and the Flock brothers—Fonty and Tim—from Atlanta, Ga.

Encouraged by this success, he moved on to Phoenix, Ariz., for the 100-mile championship there and astounded the veterans by hammering his way home into second place behind the high-flying Teague. This success prompted Erickson to cancel all previous Pacific Coast engagements and to pack his gear for an extended eastern tour and a bid for NASCAR's national championship, which was won last year by Bill Rexford of Conewango Valley, N. Y.

Observers who have seen Erickson in action liken his racing style of that of Troy Ruttman, the California racing comet who astounded fans with his daring at Reading, Trenton and Williams Grove in AAA contests this season. Ruttman took two beatings before he crashed through with his first victory at Trenton, but that win was no surprise to the race-wise who had seen him in his previous starts.

The reports that Erickson's style is similar to Ruttman's indicates that the veteran late model stock campaigners have a challenge to face from a new fireball in their quest for racing gold and glory.

FLATCH'S LONG FLY WINS FOR COUNCIL ROCK

LANGHORNE, May 5 — Frank Flatch's long fly to center, scoring Charlie Hauler from third base gave Council Rock a 7-6 win over Neshaminy yesterday on Playwicki field. It took ten innings to decide the contest.

Russ Morris, relief hurler for George Ettenger, was the winning pitcher with Anthony Peale being the loser. Ettenger had a triple and single to lead Council Rock at the plate.

At one stage of the game, Neshaminy had a 6-3 lead over Coach Dominick Sagolla's team.

blotted out or smashed up 1,200 enemy railroad cars, 34 locomotives, 1,100 motor vehicles and bombed, strafed or rocketed some 6,800 buildings harboring troops or supplies.

Delayed dispatches from the central front said 10,000 communist troops, including 500 Mongolian cavalry, were seen withdrawing near the vital road junction of Chunchon.

These reports and release of the war prisoners furnished the most positive indications the Chinese may not have enough power left for an early resumption of their offensive which punched 40 miles south in five days and then bogged down.

Even the first phase of the much-hearlded Chinese offensive was a total washout in three main respects. These were:

1. The UN International Eighth Army stood fast above the Han river, which the Chinese had crossed in an earlier offensive this year and which provided a major barrier to the UN on the road back north a few weeks later.

2. The Chinese failed to achieve a lasting breakthrough anywhere along the 130-mile war front, permitting the UN forces to remain in positions for a counter-thrust whenever the time is ripe.

3. The strategic and politically significant Seoul area remained in UN hands and the Red forces were unable to gain face through the Orient by capturing the historical Korean capital, which they had apparently hoped to seize for the third time as a propaganda present for the communist holiday of May 1.

Confident UN troops, back on the initiative again, took comfort from the words of Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who said during a 21-hour visit to the Korean war front that the only question in his mind was how long the communists could continue to take the terrific losses inflicted on them by allied, ground, artillery, air and naval surface fire.

Release of the UN prisoners was reported in a dispatch Saturday night from the western front.

WOMEN DRIVERS

LONDON — (INS) — An Oxford University professor claims that women have proved themselves the best drivers. Professor A. A. Goodheart said: "I think the reason is that women are not so ready to risk the lives of others."

CHEAP VEGETABLES

NEW YORK — (INS) — Even with food prices sky-rocketing these days, at least half a dozen vegetables are cheaper now than a year ago. You'll find that lettuce, onions, parsnips, turnips, white potatoes and sweet potatoes are all bargains.

Liquor Control Board Agents Check Bucks Places

have not been in operation for a long time. The other slot machines which the club reportedly had been operating had gone.

The visit of the Liquor Control Board Agents indicates that the order of the district attorney is to be followed by action unless obeyed. It is believed that every club will ban the machines in compliance with the edict of the district attorney, as none will want to jeopardize their liquor licenses.

The slot machine craze had become widespread. Hundreds were in operation in Bucks County. With the banning of the machines rumors flew thick and fast. Some said that wives had reported that husbands came home with empty pockets after losing their week's pay in the slot machines. But on the other hand it was stated that women had the craze as bad as the men. In fact if rumors are to be believed some had it worse. A limit had to be placed in some clubs, it is reported, on the amount of money some women would be allowed to drop into the slot with the hope that she would hit the jackpot.

Now what is to be the pastime this week-end for those who like to hear the coins drop into the little metal cups as the dials spin round and round to stop upon the selected spot?

Apparently the entire county was visited by the agents as reports from other communities state that the agents called at the clubs in Doylestown and elsewhere. It appears as though a check was being made among other things on punchboards. Drawers were in some instances opened and a general look-around taken.

BRISTOL HIGH DROPS INTO PIT OF BALL LEAGUE

Bristol High dropped into the cellar of the Lower Bucks County League by losing a 9-8 decision to Morrisville High yesterday in an extra inning fracas on Memorial Park field.

Morrisville also outhit the local boys, 11-9, but a big error by Frank Lucenti enabled the Bulldogs to tie the tilt in the seventh inning. The miscue changed the entire complex of the game and spoiled a brilliant job of relief hurling by Norman Slaymaker.

Slaymaker took up the hill duty in the third inning after Morrisville had placed the first two batters on base. He retired the side to prevent further scoring and struck out two batters in doing so.

From the time he went in until the sixth, Slaymaker allowed but one hit, a triple from the bat of Davis. In the sixth, Hable opened with a double and Homko singled. But Slaymaker bore down and got rid of the next three batters.

But in the seventh, Morrisville tied the count. Trout whiffed to open the frame. Brunner lifted an easy fly to Lucenti but the left-fielder dropped the ball. Levandowski also struck out which would have been the third out and Bristol's game. But Hensor singled to score Brunner. Hable beat out an infield hit and Homko singled home the tying run.

In the eighth, Kohler doubled to left and scored the winning run on a hit by Trout.

"Jim" Ryan went the route for Morrisville. He had five strikeouts and gave up nine hits. He was quite effective in the pinches after a wobbly first inning.

Return Verdict in Favor Of Kenneth Herrmann

Judge Biester, who thanked the men and women for serving, excused them for the April term.

After deliberating more than four hours, a civil court jury, which was called in for additional instruction, if needed, by President Judge Hiram H. Keller, Thursday evening about 8 o'clock returned a verdict of $150 in favor of the plaintiff, Joseph L. Brautlecht, Langhorne, RD 2, motorist.

The defendant was Eugene J. Salvadore, Bellevue ave., Penndel, who was being sued for $289.94 because of a two-car accident August 26, 1950, at the Lincoln Highway and Durham road.

When President Judge Keller felt that the jury had been out long enough, since the case was not a difficult one, he summoned them in for additional instruction if they wished it.

In less than five minutes after they appeared before the Court, they reached a verdict in which they allowed the plaintiff $150 instead of the $289.94 which he was suing for in the original statement of claim.

The plaintiff's witnesses were Joseph L. Brautlecht and Philip Friend, and the defendant's E. Salvadore, Winfield S. Miller, Jr. and William R. Schramm.

fession is to blame. And no mature person, who scans the methods by which dictatorships have been set up for the past several decades, can afford to overlook the fact that the prostitution of the school system has been the unfailing prelude to the rise of all recent despots.

Let's look at an example of what it is this bill aims to prevent—and the examples are available by the hundreds; at this very moment, for example, five full-sized books already are in circulation analyzing the fellow-tarveler professors—the "red-ucators" on the campuses of Harvard, Yale, Columbia and the Universities of Chicago, California, Stanford and California Tech.

From these compilations, which are reports issued by the National Council for American Education, let us take a single example, Professor X, of Columbia, and list his Communist-front affiliations:

1. American Student Union, member advisory board.
   Cited as communist front by
   a. Cong. Com. Un-American Activities.
   b. Calif. Com. Un-American Activities.
   c. Mass. House Com. Un-American Activities.
   d. N. Y. State Joint Legis. Committee.
   e. Spl. Sub-Com. U. S. House Com. on Appropriations.
2. Consumers Union, Sponsor.
   Cited as communist front by
   a. Cong. Com. Un-American Activities.
   b. Calif. Com. Un-American Activities.
   c. Spl. Sub-Com. U. S. House Com. on Appropriations.
   d. N. Y. City Council Committee.
   e. Pennsylvania Commonwealth Council.
3. New Masses, Contributor.
   Cited as communist front by
   a. U. S. Attorney General.
   b. Cong. Com. on Un-American Activities.
   c. Calif. Com. Un-American Activities.
   d. Mass. House Com. Un-American Activities.

Now, why should the public, supporting with its taxes a great public institution of learning, be compelled at the same time to tolerate a so-called "instructor" who divides his time between teaching heaven-knows-what to his students, and helping along the activities of these groups which so many experts have branded Communist fronts?

Does the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have to put up with that sort of fifth-columning, disguised as "academic freedom"? How many educators from our own public-supported colleges and universities are working for these or similar un-American Conmmunist-front fellow-travellers?

Isn't it time for those who believe in America, and who want to defend her from her enemies, to stand up and do something about it?
